[Notice] Product discontinuation due to our factory transition

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for your continuous business relationship and support.

We would like to hereby inform that we will discontinue the applicable products as mentioned below. The background of this notice is that we have decided to transfer the semiconductor production at Singapore Epson Industrial Pte. Ltd. (SEP) to another affiliated factory in June 2026.

SEP has been responsible for the packaging manufacturing, final testing, and shipping of our packaging products. However, the environment surrounding the manufacturing industry in Singapore has become increasingly tough. Consequently, from a management perspective, we have decided to close the semiconductor back-end process at SEP.

We plan to transfer the packaging manufacturing for some products that are expected to maintain stable production quantities to our subcontractor and shipping location to another affiliated factory. Unfortunately, we have decided to discontinue the applicable products that cannot be expected to maintain stable production quantities in future. For details, please confirm the following.

We apologize for the sudden notice and any inconvenience this may cause. We greatly appreciate your understanding and cooperation in placing last time orders.

- ◆ Applicable products: S1C17704F101100

- ◆ Last Order Schedule for the current product:

Last order date : 30th, June 2025

Last shipment date : 30th, April 2026

*The details of each shipment date will be informed separately.

- ◆ Request:

- If you need to place last orders for the current products, please place orders prior to the last order date as mentioned above.
- Regardless of whether you place orders or not, please confirm the contents of this notice and fill in and sign the following form, and send this copy to Epson sales representatives by 30th June, 2025.
- Even though we don't receive any reply from you by the due date, we will discontinue these products.
